Tom-Cat shares a house with downstairs occupants, Mr and Mrs Spode-Fawcett, and Jennifer's family who lives in the flat above. When the Spode-Fawcetts move house they take the cat with them. This picture book tells of the many adventures and mishaps that befall Tom-Cat as he finds his way back home.

This stunning big book version emphasises the rich creativity of Cooper's wonderful artwork. Whether it be the cool elegance of the Spode-Fawcetts' flat or the frightening claustrophobia of House-Cat's travelling cardboard cage or the cosiness of Jennifer's settee, Cooper captures each mood with seemingly effortless perfection. Using interesting perspective and variety of layout to great effect, this is a book that will be loved by children and adults alike. I thought it was superb ? and I hate cats!
