

The Global Garden

Books Reviewed:

The Global Garden [1]

Issue:

152 [2]

Reviewer:

Ted Percy [3]

Novel Choice:

off

Media type:

Book

BfK Rating:

2

'The world is a garden that grows everything we need' is the text for this brief pop-up, pull-up, pull-out novelty production. It shows us simply how many of our necessities and all of our food is plant derived - a salutary message delivered in a friendly manner, but actually, not much more. Some of the paper engineering defeated my fumbling fingers even when I found it, which wasn't always easy, and 'everything we need' is an oversimplification - witness the industrious group of moles which enlivens each spread, fertilising the soil with their own turds and using metal tools to do it. A pleasant piece of gift-shop ephemera, this, which could enliven the back of the car on the way home from Cornwall.

Running Order:

65

Source URL (retrieved on Jun '20): <http://booksforkeeps.co.uk/issue/152/childrens-books/reviews/the-global-garden>

Links:

[1] <http://booksforkeeps.co.uk/childrens-books/the-global-garden>

[2] <http://booksforkeeps.co.uk/issue/152>

[3] <http://booksforkeeps.co.uk/member/ted-percy>